SC Ag Council August Meeting – focuses on water, features Certified SC Grown lunch

The quarterly meeting of the South Carolina Ag Council is scheduled to be held at the SC Farm Bureau, 724 Knox Abbot Drive, Cayce, SC, on Thursday, August 21, 2008. The topic will be "Water Quality and Water Uses."

Water has historically been an abundant resource in South Carolina, but growth in the state's population and a number of years of less than average rainfall have taken their toll on this precious resource. How will water be allocated in the future? What can be done to ensure enough water for South Carolina? Members and guests are invited to the meeting to hear the current thoughts on this issue. In addition, a brief update on the recently passed Farm Bill will be given.

The Ag Council is also taking the challenge to "Eat Local for a Day – the Certified South Carolina Grown Way." Members and guests will be treated to a Certified South Carolina lunch at the meeting to celebrate Farmers Market Month in South Carolina. The lunch will be catered by The Farmer's Shed in Lexington owned and operated by a full-time farm family.

Farmers markets are an integral part of the farm-city partnership, a linkage that is recognized and supported by the SC Ag Council. The lunch will be a fun way to learn more about where food comes from, how it is grown, and the connection with the farm community, particularly farmers markets.

Pee Dee REC Farm and Field Day

The Pee Dee Research and Education Center Farm and Field Day will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Tuesday, August 12, 2008.

The Field Day includes a Commodity Marketing Update by Edgar Woods and educational tours of the research station. Field crops, wildlife research plots, turf grass, and muscadine grapes will be featured in the morning, followed by a picnic lunch.

Optional pesticide certification credit and Certified Crop Advisor classes will be held in the afternoon.

Registration which is free and includes the picnic lunch begins at 8 a.m. followed by field tours of research and educational displays at 9 a.m. When registering, indicate a choice for morning tours including: Turf grass, Cotton & Soybeans, Corn/Peanuts/Muscadines/Tobacco, or Biofuels/Switchgrass/Wildlife.

To register for the Farm and Field Day or for more information, call 843-662-3526, ext. 264 or visit http://peedeefarmfieldday.blogspot.com.

Buy-in Waiver for Supplemental Agricultural Disaster Assistance Programs Underway in New Farm Bill

USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) will allow producers who would otherwise be ineligible for the new disaster assistance programs to become eligible by paying a fee as required by the Food, Conservation and Energy Act of 2008 (the 2008 Act).

The 2008 Act requires producers who wish to participate in the new disaster programs to have crop insurance or non-insured crop disaster assistance (NAP) coverage for the land for which assistance is being requested, and for all farms in all counties in which they have an interest. Since the 2008 Act was enacted after the application periods had closed for those programs, producers who did not have such coverage could not comply with this requirement in order to be eligible for the new disaster programs. However, the 2008 Act authorizes a waiver that allows producers to pay a fee, called a "buy-in" fee, to be eligible for this new disaster assistance.

Celebrate Farmers Market Month in South Carolina ---- and Look out for Locavores!

Look out for what? Locavores. We all know what carnivores and herbivores are, but what's a locavore.

A locavore is someone who only eats food grown or produced within a hundred miles of where they live.

There are more and more folks turning into locavores and they shop where they can find locally grown products. That's why you'll find them at farmers markets.

If you want more information, do a Google search on locavore. You'll see almost one-quarter million references. You'll also learn that the New Oxford American Dictionary named it the 2007 Word of the Year. Frankly I never knew there was a 'word of the year' until researching this. While they call this a 2-year old movement, I think all South Carolinians are locavores when sweet corn, peaches, and tomatoes come in every summer. But this is a new way of thinking about eating local and supporting local farmers as much as possible throughout the year.

Governor Mark Sanford has proclaimed the month of August as Farmers Market Month in South Carolina. This is an extension of National Farmers Market Week, August 3-9, 2008.

Celebrate Farmers Market Month in South Carolina

Along with other governors and commissioners of agriculture in other states, we are taking this opportunity in a nationwide "eat local" effort to draw attention to our committed farmers who provide us with safe, fresh, abundant food. Sort of a locavore recruiting initiative.

We want to celebrate our farmers markets as a valuable part of the state's food distribution system and encourage consumers to buy local produce and products. With that, I'm encouraging everyone to "Eat Local for a Day - the Certified South Carolina Way" during Farmers Market Week. Look for the Certified SC logo. If you don't see it, ask for it, because 'Nothing's fresher. Nothing's finer.'

The local farmers market is a great place to teach children that food 'doesn't just happen'. Ask the farmers questions. They are passionate about their products and would love to talk about them. Look for recipes. Try something new. Above all, enjoy the sights, sounds and tastes of a local farmers market.

In the larger sense, think about what shopping at a farmers market represents. You can "go green" shopping there because food traveling less distance is good for the environment. You're buying fresh-sometimes less than 24 hours since harvest time. You're buying safe. You don't have to worry about the FDA telling you what not to eat based on the latest scare. You're a valuable part of our state's economy by putting dollars directly back into the rural economy of South Carolina. Every dollar you spend will be turned over at least once with the money staying right here at home.

The South Carolina Agricultural Council is taking the "Eat Local" challenge. They're having a Certified South Carolina lunch at their next meeting on Thursday, August 21st at the South Carolina Farm Bureau. The lunch will be catered by The Farmer's Shed in Lexington owned and operated by a full-time farm family. While the meeting's focus is on water issues - the allocation of water, ensuring enough water for our state - the lunch portion of the meeting will be a fun way to learn more about where food comes from, how it is grown, and the connection with the farm community, particularly farmers markets.

So, get connected with your agricultural roots. Visit one of the 75 local community-based farmers markets around South Carolina. Or stop by one of the three state farmers markets at 1001 Bluff Rd. in Columbia, at 2513 W. Lucas St. in Florence, and at 1354 Rutherford Rd. in Greenville. Remember to look out for locavores. They're everywhere. Hopefully you'll become one, too.

To find the nearest farmers market and a list of Certified South Carolina members who grow, produce, and sell local products, visit the South Carolina Department of Agriculture web site at www.agriculture.sc.gov.

Hugh E. Weathers, Commissioner

The following is the Governor's Proclamation declaring August as Farmers Market Month in South Carolina.

State of South Carolina Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, farmers markets provide important statewide marketing opportunities for farmers and are a significant part of the rural economy; and

WHEREAS, across South Carolina, three state farmers markets and dozens of community-based farmers markets offer consumers convenient access fresh, healthy fruits and vegetables, flowers and plants, herbs, baked goods and other products at affordable prices; and

WHEREAS, farmers markets serve as integral links between urban, suburban, and rural communities, affording farmers and consumers the chance to interact; and

WHEREAS, the popularity of farmers markets continues to rise as increasing numbers of consumers discover the joys and pleasures of shopping for unique products direct from the farm and buying familiar items in their freshest possible state.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mark Sanford, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim August 2008 as

throughout the state encourage all South Carolinians to Eat Local for a Day - the Certified SC Grown Way as a salute to our farmers markets and to our farmers who supply them with their bountiful production.

Mark Sanford
Governor
State of South Carolina

Buy-in Waiver

Every producer whose crops, including grazing lands, are not fully covered by crop insurance or NAP may take advantage of this one-time opportunity. The buy-in fee is due no later than Sept. 16, 2008, 90 days after the date of enactment, as required by the 2008 Act. Those who miss this opportunity will not be eligible for disaster assistance.

Producers are also reminded that the payment of the applicable buy-in fee does not afford the producer crop insurance or NAP coverage; it only affords eligibility for the 2008 disaster programs.

For more information about the Buy-in Waiver for Supplemental Agricultural Disaster Assistance Programs, call your local USDA Farm Service Agency or visit http://www.fsa.usda.gov.
