Winter Weather Is Coming— It Always Does Will You Be Ready This Time?

Even though South Carolina is in the heart of the Deep South, we still get our share of winter weather. Ice, sleet, snow, bitter winds, frozen ground, and the famed “wintry mixes” are always just around the corner.

Trees across roads, a common event after an ice storm, interrupt normal traffic and can slow down response time for emergency vehicles.

With hurricane season behind us, we now need to prepare for “severe winter weather,” as the forecasters call it. The S.C. Emergency Management Division and the state Emergency Response Team spend a lot of time preparing for hazardous conditions. Their goal is to keep South Carolina residents safe during all types of emergencies.

The teams often create a scenario using potential real situations, so they can test the responses of various statewide agencies. A recent workshop sponsored by the emergency management division staged a mock emergency consisting of seven days of extreme cold, with 6 to 10 inches of snow and ice in specific areas.

In the mock disaster, sections of interstates were closed, multiple traffic accidents kept law enforcement and traffic control busy, and motorists were stranded. Due to heavy ice, power outages lasted seven days, trees blocked most secondary roads, and hospitals were overwhelmed with injuries.

To help South Carolinians survive severe winter weather, the Emergency Management Division has published a new guide entitled “Severe Winter Weather in South Carolina”. It includes sections on what to do before, during and after a winter storm.

3rd Annual S.C. AgriBiz & Farm Expo Set for 2015

The third Annual South Carolina AgriBiz & Farm Expo is set for January 14-15, 2015, at the Florence Civic Center in Florence.

The S.C. AgriBiz & Farm Expo aims to bring all aspects of the agricultural community under one roof, with educational clinics, demonstrations, and vendors ranging from agriculture lenders to equipment suppliers. The Expo will include mini conferences, a Youth AgriBiz Day, and S.C. Commodity Catered Lunches.

S.C. Department of Agriculture Partners with S.C. Aeronautics Commission

The South Carolina Department of Agriculture began a new partnership with the South Carolina Aeronautics Commission in October to begin Aviation Gas (AvGas) and Jet Fuel metering inspections. SCDA will ensure the AvGas meters are accurately dispensing fuel to airplanes and jets.

A Weathers' Thanksgiving

Like you we love the holidays, and Thanksgiving is special at our house. Centered around good food, family and friends, we have developed some traditions of our own. I hope you'll let me share them with you.

The Wednesday before Thanksgiving we always have an oyster roast. We invite some of our best friends and their kids, along with a few neighbors. Of course they've got to be Certified SC oysters.

We build a fire in the fire pit and use an old door on sawhorses as the oyster table. Our son Edward is a great cook, and he's in charge of the oysters. He uses a recipe from Bubba Dean's restaurant for char-grilled oysters. That's for those who don't like them just steamed.

Basically you just open the raw oysters, pour melted butter seasoned with garlic over them, and put them on the charcoal grill until the edges begin to get a little crisp. Either before they're done or just afterwards, you sprinkle them with Parmesan cheese. They are so good!

We nearly always have barbecue too, which Blanche cooks in a crock pot, using Marvin Rush's Old Time Barbecue Sauce. Marvin is one of the members of the SC Specialty Foods Association. Afterwards she douses it with Maurice Bessinger's sauce. We'll have barbecue sliders and a wonderful marinated cole slaw that calls for turmeric and white vinegar. Red rice made with Carolina Pride or Jimmy Dean sausage is another favorite.

Holiday Trifle

From Chef Heidi Trull, S.C. Chef Ambassador Grits and Groceries Belton, S.C.

1 small cranberry orange pound cake (available at Grits and Groceries) or your favorite pound cake sliced into thin slices

Orange Curd

1 cup egg yolks (about 12)
1 cup sugar
1 cup fresh squeezed orange juice
½ lb chilled butter cut into small pieces

In a stainless steel mixing bowl, whisk the egg yolks with the sugar until light and fluffy. Whisk in the orange juice and place bowl over a pot of simmering water. Whisk until mixture becomes thick. Remove from heat and whisk in the butter, whisking until the butter is melted and completely incorporated. Pour into a shallow container and cover directly with plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least four hours or overnight.

Cooked Cranberries

1 lb cranberries washed and picked over
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 T butter
1 T vanilla
3 T cornstarch
3 T water

In a medium sauce pot, combine all ingredients except the cornstarch and water. Cook over medium heat stirring occasionally until cranberries become soft. Dissolve cornstarch with water and stir into cranberry mixture. Cook until slightly thickened. Remove from heat and cool. Refrigerate for four hours or over-night.

Whipped Cream

2 cups heavy whipping cream
½ cup sugar
1 ½ tsp pure vanilla extract

Combine all ingredients in mixer bowl and whip until stiff peaks form.

In a 3 or 4 quart size Trifle Bowl, arrange one layer of the sliced pound cake in the bottom of the bowl and top with half of the curd mixture. Spread evenly over the cake. Top the curd mixture with half of the cranberries, spreading evenly over the curd. Top the cranberries with half the whipped cream spreading evenly. Repeat these same steps again in the same order, making sure that all the fillings get spread evenly and to the sides of the bowl so that the definite layers can be seen. Smooth the whipped cream evenly on the top and cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Garnish with candied orange peel or some of the cooked cranberries.

SCDA received a grant from the Aeronautics Commission, which provided 5 gallon, 50 gallon, 100 gallon and 1,200 gallon prover equipment, trailers, and related tools that are necessary to perform these important checks. This equipment is dedicated solely to aviation fuel and jet fuel metering inspections.

SCDA's Consumer Protection Division plays a very important role in providing protection for consumers in a variety of ways, from inspecting food manufacturers to checking scales, and now checking aviation gas for the state.

This statewide endeavor is sure to shine a new light on our Consumer Protection Division and allow South Carolinians to see the many roles SCDA plays in protecting our consumers and buying public.

Leading the effort on this partnership includes SCDA's Consumer Services Director John Stokes, Field Specialist Supervisor Walter Brooks, Consumer Services Inspector Jamie Gallman, and Assistant Commissioner for Consumer Protection Services, Derek Underwood.

Expo

Daily admission is only $5. The Expo will also host two ticketed events: the Taste of South Carolina reception showcasing South Carolina grown food and the Commissioner's Breakfast that benefits the South Carolina Commissioner's School for Agriculture. A Weathers' Thanksgiving

Then on Thanksgiving Day itself, the boys usually go on a duck hunt or get into a deer stand before our big meal. After that the day is mostly focused on leftovers, football on television, and naps. Blanche will sneak off to catch some of the Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade.

On Friday we might hunt again, but we try to play a round of golf together. It's our annual Carolina-Clemson match, with Julius and me representing the Garnet, and Gill and Edward for the Orange. Saturday, of course, is the Carolina-Clemson game. Weekends don't get much better than that!

Winter Weather

Here are some tips from the South Carolina Severe Winter Guide:

- Prepare ahead of time for possible power outages and isolation in your home. Have sufficient heating fuel, stock up on water and non-perishable food, and be sure your vehicle is serviced and has a full tank of gas. Instead of buying bread and milk, buy or stockpile bottled water and at least three days' worth of food that does not need to be cooked, like canned soups, vegetables, and meat.

- During a storm, people should stay inside as much as possible, and by all means stay off the roads. If you must go outside, for example to care for pets or livestock, wear layers of loose clothing, including a hat, scarf, mittens or gloves, and insulated boots. Wet clothing should be changed immediately for dry items.

- Winter emergency kits for vehicles should include a shovel, flashlight, radio and batteries, water, snack food, first aid kit, blankets, extra hats, gloves and socks, a tow chain, booster cables, and emergency flares.

- If you must drive, don't travel alone, keep others informed of your schedule, and don't drive at night. If you get stranded, pull off the highway and turn on your hazard lights. Stay inside the vehicle. Run the heater about 10 minutes each hour, but be sure to crack a window slightly to avoid carbon monoxide

will be transformed into a winter wonderland where you can shop a variety of Christmas trees to find the perfect one for your home. The Market Pavilion will be buzzing with holiday spirit. You will find everything from gifts and holiday décor to great specialty food items in Five Rivers Market. Stop in and grab a bite to eat at Dupre at the Market where fresh, local dishes are served daily.

Line up on the Farmers Market entrance road to watch the antique tractor parade at 2 p.m. Santa Claus will be driving the last tractor and would love to meet your little ones at the South Shed afterwards. If you need something to warm you up, grab some hot chocolate and a holiday treat from the food trucks that will be on site. This family event is free and a great way to kick off the holiday season. The S.C. State Farmers Market is located at 3483 Charleston Highway, West Columbia.

poisoning. Rescue workers will be searching the highways first, so don't leave the vehicle.

- Avoid fallen power lines, which can be energized and very dangerous. Treat all downed lines as potential hazards.

- Go to a designated shelter if your home loses power for an extended time during extreme cold. Most shelters do not accept animals, so make sure your animals have water and food while you are away.

- Individuals with disabilities or special needs are urged to develop a network of neighbors and family members who can provide assistance during an emergency. Seniors should have a list of people they can contact ahead of time.

- After the storm is over, listen to your local radio station for updates on which roads are open and what services are available. SCETV also broadcasts closings and services.

Another danger during severe cold weather is fire. Local fire departments respond to many fire calls in the winter, some of which result from improper heating. Be careful with fireplaces, candles, and portable heaters. Don't use gas stoves as a heat source, and never use gasoline around any open flames. To avoid carbon monoxide poisoning, don't go to sleep with propane heaters running.

The new Severe Winter Guide is available in all Walgreens stores statewide and for download on www.sccmd.org as part of South Carolina Winter Weather Awareness Week. Additionally, look for the guide in the Sunday edition of your local daily newspaper on Dec. 7.
