Fran and Warren Snell love to serve locally grown, freshly prepared food at their restaurant inside the big red barn.

Julia Belle's Features Food from Pee Dee Farmers Market

By Marsha Hewitt
Editor, SC Market Bulletin

FLORENCE--Julia Belle's Restaurant at the Pee Dee State Farmers Market is celebrating its second anniversary this month. The farm-to-table, Fresh on the Menu eatery opened on Dec. 13, 2014 and has become a popular spot for locals—and travelers—to get a made-to-order meal.

"We keep it simple," said owner Fran Snell. "Our food is Southern with a Lowcountry influence." Items like Lowcountry boil, shrimp and grits, an awesome crab cake sandwich, and homemade breads keep people coming back.

"We're best known for our blue plate specials, like pork chops, salmon cakes, popcorn shrimp, baked and fried chicken, and meatloaf. Every day has a different special, and we cook from scratch," she said.

The menu lists 13 entrees and freshly made sides like cheese grits, fried green tomatoes and beefy baked beans. "We make our own brioche for sandwiches. We hand patty the burgers and make our own sauces, coleslaw, chili and our own mac and cheese," the owner said.

Another thing that makes the restaurant unique is that Fran buys as much produce as possible directly from the Farmers Market across the yard. And when she goes to the market, she hands out brochures featuring the specials of the day, like chicken and waffles or a fried pork chop sandwich.

"I know about food and beverage. Lunch has to be fast. You have to be consistent, give good service and have good food," she said. Their motto is "Farm Fresh, Family Friendly."

Running a restaurant is a commitment, and it's not for the faint of heart. Julia Belle's, which named for the owner's great-grandmother, Julia Belle Young Sinclair, is open every day except Sunday from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m., and on Friday and Saturday nights until 9.

The owner worked in various restaurants as a teenager. After graduating from the University of South Carolina, she moved to Hilton Head Island. There she met her future husband, Warren Snell, who was the executive chef at Fitzgerald's Restaurant. The couple moved to Camden to open their first restaurant, Sinclair's.

Years later, the couple and their four children re-located to Florence. When the big red barn at the Farmers Market in Florence became available, Fran jumped at the chance to reopen this unique venue. The building, which was at various times a mule barn, a tobacco barn and a hot dog stand, speaks to an era gone by. Fran remodeled the building while retaining the barn's unique charm.

Fran relies heavily on her husband's advice, and their daughter Julia also works with them. The move has been successful for the family.

"We have found our niches. Food should be an enhancement to life, and it should make you happy," she said. "I look forward to coming to work. I love the staff and the customers. We've had wonderful experiences with the restaurant."

Another thing that draws people to Julia Belle's is the dessert menu. The family-reunion type items like banana pudding, peach cobbler, and pineapple upside-down cake are augmented with Warren's original recipes for a decadent white Russian pecan pie and a sublime fruit pie that combines apples, oranges, and pineapple in a cream cheese binder. The crescent shaped pie is then deep fried and served hot. Rounding out the desserts are cheesecake, key lime pie, and homemade chocolate chip cookies.

Julia Belle's has a private dining room that seats 18, and catering is available for small and large parties. On a typical weekday, the dining area is full and the picturesque aisle in the barn accommodates the overflow. The restaurant, which gets excellent reviews, was recently named the best restaurant in the state by Yelp, but Fran knows not to take her customers for granted. "I am happy that people pass every other restaurant to come eat with us," she said.

Julia Belle's is located inside the Pee Dee State Farmers Market at 2513 W. Lucas St. in Florence.

A 2016 Fly-Over

Too often over the past 15 months, I've done "fly-overs" to assess damage from floods and hurricanes. Here's a fly-over of 2016—a quick look back at what keeps us focused on our missions here at the Department:

--Plant it Forward: SC Advocates for Agriculture started Plant it Forward as a private initiative to help provide aid to farmers recovering from the October 2015 flood. More than $550,000 was distributed to South Carolina farmers to help sow the seeds for their next crop.

--Chef Ambassadors: The 2016 Chef Ambassadors are chefs who represent our state's distinct regional flavor profiles. Chefs Ramone Dickerson, Forest Parker, Orchid Paulmeier, Brandon Velie and Teryi Youngblood traveled around the state sharing with others why Certified SC Grown really is a matter of taste.

--Agritourism Passport Program: With more than 40 farms around the state covering everything from crop mazes and hayrides to wineries and u-picks, an agritourism destination is perfect for family fun. One lucky winner who filled their passport with stamps will win $100 worth of Certified SC Specialty Foods.

--DNR Express Service Office: DNR opened an express service office at the State Farmers Market where patrons can renew hunting and fishing licenses, permits and tags, as well as renew watercraft registrations and

Prepare in Advance for Winter Weather

The S.C. Emergency Management Division and the National Weather Service along with the agencies that comprise the State Emergency Response Team encourage everyone in South Carolina to prepare for severe winter weather by checking supplies and safety plans now.

Snowfall, ice storms and extreme cold can immobilize an entire region. Even areas that normally experience mild winters can be hit with an ice storm or extreme cold. Winter storms can result in flooding, storm surge, closed highways, blocked roads, downed power lines and hypothermia.

Residents should take the proper winter weather precautions during milder temperatures while the winter emergency supplies are in low demand:

- Include winter supplies like shovels and rock salt in your household emergency kit.
- Prepare for possible isolation in your home by having sufficient heating fuel in case regular fuel sources are cut off.
- Insulate pipes with insulation or newspapers and plastic and allow faucets to drip a little during extreme cold to avoid freezing.
- Learn how to shut off water valves in case a pipe bursts.
- Portable generators are commonly used during an outage. Carbon monoxide fumes are odorless and deadly. Follow manufacturer's instructions to prevent death from carbon monoxide.

- Make sure the fireplace has a sturdy screen to stop sparks from flying into the room. Ashes should be cool before putting them in a metal container for disposal.
- Chimneys should be cleaned and inspected every year by a qualified professional. They can become filled with highly flammable layers of creosote.
- Have your vehicle serviced to ensure it is prepared for the winter season.
- In every vehicle, place a winter emergency kit that includes: a shovel; windshield scraper and small broom; flashlight; battery-powered radio; extra batteries; water; snack food; matches; extra hats, socks and mittens; first aid kit with a pocket knife; medications; blankets; tow chain or rope; road salt and sand; booster cables; emergency flares; and a fluorescent distress flag.

Download the Severe Winter Weather Guide

Developed specifically for South Carolina, the Severe Winter Weather guide contains tips on what to do before, during and after a major winter storm. It includes check lists, information on how to get the current status of government offices and more. The S.C. Severe Winter Weather Guide is available for download at scemd.org.

Educational Opportunities 'A-Plenty' at the SC AgriBiz Expo

While some folks might enjoy a large burger with fries or onion rings, commonly called "A-Plenty" at various restaurants, the SC AgriBiz Expo will be offering "A-Plenty" of educational sessions at the 2017 Expo Commercial farmers as well as small farmers have huge benefits to reap from attending the fifth Annual SC AgriBiz & Farm Expo.

On Wednesday, Jan. 11 the commercial agriculture sessions will focus on "Marketing Crops and Cattle in our Current Economic Conditions," plus an informative session on "Am I Fully Utilizing Opportunities available in the Market Place?" Additional sessions include "Spray Technologies to Save Money while Increasing Efficiency and Stewardship," followed by a session on "Cover Crops--How They Help Improve Efficiency on the Farm."

Commercial sessions continue the next day with "Cost Effective Development and Utilization of Management Zones" and "Rethinking in-Season Fertilizer Recommendations for Hay Production." A two-hour CAMM training session will be held on Thursday afternoon, focusing on "The Impact of Fluctuating Fertilizer Prices on Manure Nutrient Value."

Several optimization clinics will be held both Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The sessions will consist of two 30-minute rotating clinics. "This is the perfect time to see the latest tools and techniques first hand," said Expo Executive Director Jody Martin. These sessions will be held both inside and outside the facilities at the participating exhibitor's booths.

An opportunity for the public is "Understanding the Food Safety Modernization Act on ALL Farms." This new act takes effect January 2017, with many implications for both large and small operations. Clemson University and SC Department of Agriculture teams will explain some of the components, implementation strategies and information on future trainings. This important session for all farmers will include lots of time for questions and answers.

The Small Farmer Symposium, brought to you by the Farm Service Agency and SC State University, will include a variety of educational opportunities to enhance planning, budgeting, managing, marketing and executing opportunities for small farms. From success stories to agritourism to vegetable and small fruit production, learning opportunities abound.

Participants can gain "a-plenty" of educational information at the Expo as well as lots of great agricultural exhibitors. Visit the SC AgriBiz & Farm Expo website for more information: scagribizexpo.com.

New Chef Ambassadors Named

The S.C. Department of Parks, Recreation & Tourism and the S.C. Department of Agriculture announced the new slate of Chef Ambassadors last week. Chefs from Charleston, Fort Mill, Pawleys Island and Spartanburg have been selected for the 2017 calendar year.

The Chef Ambassadors program promotes South Carolina as a culinary destination for travelers by recognizing chefs who use locally grown and harvested products in their recipes and who offer distinctive flavors and tastes at their restaurants.

The newly named ambassadors are Chef Amy Fortes at Flipside Café in Fort Mill; Chef William Cribb at Cribb's Kitchen, Willy Taco, and Cribb's Catering in Spartanburg; Chef Adam Kirby at Bistro 217 and The Rustic Table in Pawleys Island; and Chef Sean Mendes at Roadside Seafood on Folly Road in Charleston.

obtain duplicate decals and registration cards, all without the hassle of downtown traffic and parking.

--Commissioner's Cup BBQ Cook Off: The fifth annual BBQ cook off at the Market was surely smokin'! With 47 cook teams from across the Southeast, there was something to satisfy everyone's craving for smoky, saucy pork. The 2016 State BBQ Champion was Creek Mill BBQ.

--Fresh on the Menu Living Wall: The Fresh on the Menu program, now in its eighth year, got a fresh face this summer with a Living Wall in Marion Square in Charleston. The vertical wall was planted with various produce, herbs, and plants and served as a natural monument to remind everyone to choose local, even when dining out.

--SC Commissioner's School for Agriculture: For the 13th year, the School reached high school students from across the nation to share with them opportunities in the agricultural field. Thirty-six students from South Carolina, North Carolina, California and Pennsylvania convened in Clemson to explore careers in animal sciences, forestry, natural resources, or horticulture.

--Palmetto Series: This was the inaugural season of the Palmetto Series that tracks all the head-to-head sports match ups between the University of South Carolina and Clemson University. The Gamecocks came out ahead in the first season with a score of 10 to 5. Besides the solid rivalries on the playing fields, the fans competed by collecting canned goods and monetary donations to equal nearly 200,000 meals for hungry families right here in South Carolina.

--SC Farm Aid: What was certainly one of the most productive partnerships ever for South Carolina agriculture, Farm Aid awarded 1,244 farmers a total of $35,512,560. This program was a true collaborative effort among the agricultural leadership in our state to deliver flood relief aid to farmers in their time of need.

--Sunbelt Ag Expo: The Moultrie, Ga., Expo is the largest farm show east of the Mississippi. This year, South Carolina was honored as the spotlight state, and we served up a taste of some of our favorites to thousands attending the expo.

--Strategic Planning: The Department takes pride in leading our agriculture industry forward, and this year was no different. We set goals and objectives that will help us continue to move agriculture toward being a $50 billion industry by the year 2020.

This time of year, we often reflect on the highs and lows that the previous twelve months brought us. 2017 will certainly bring challenges and successes, like all the years before, and I look forward to working with our farmers to meet them head-on.

Country Christmas Celebration

About 2,200 people attended the Country Christmas Celebration on Nov. 27 at the State Farmers Market. Folks bought Christmas trees, enjoyed a display of antique tractors, savored holiday treats from food vendors, and shopped for seasonal produce.

The It's a Matter of Taste food truck, below, will also be featured at the SC AgriBiz Expo in January.

Looking Forward

By Meghan Wood, Ph.D.
Assistant Director
4-H/Livestock Coordinator Clemson University

As we look forward to a new year in 2017, we cannot forget to reflect back on all the accomplishments South Carolina 4-H has had in 2016.

With the addition of several new county 4-H agents comes exciting growth in youth membership as well. We would like to thank our many supporters and stakeholders who have invested in 4-H as they are certainly investing in the future of South Carolina.

Congratulations to the SC 4-H Livestock Judging team for representing our state and Saluda County at the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, KY in November. Members of the team competed against other teams in the country to evaluate eight classes of livestock including market steers, heifers, goats, sheep and swine.

This team of youth not only gained practical knowledge in the livestock industry but also applied real-world skills as they evaluated and presented several sets of reasons to judges, defending their placing for each class.

The state winning team from Saluda County were coached by 4-H Agent Connie Lake and Livestock Agent Travis Mitchell. Members of the team were: Allison Harman, Colden Harman, Lindsey Scott and Alan Gunter.
