SC Department of Agriculture Launches Agribusiness Entrepreneurship Center

ACRE applications available for funding and mentoring

Are you an agribusiness entrepreneur who would benefit from mentoring, funding and access to investors? The Agribusiness Center for Research and Entrepreneurship (ACRE), a new initiative of the SC Department of Agriculture, is looking for you.

Applications for the ACRE Entrepreneurship Program are open to South Carolina residents who have an agribusiness product or a company related to the following categories:

- Specialty crops (fruits, vegetables, tree nuts, dried fruits, horticulture, nursery crops)
- Other foods (honey, cheese, milk, eggs)
- Row crops
- Aquaculture
- Timber
- Mechanical harvesting
- Agribusiness technology
- Protein

South Carolina is ripe with budding entrepreneurs who have new and innovative ideas. "We're seeking the most innovative and forward thinkers in South Carolina agribusiness," said Jack Shuler, ACRE Executive Director. "The Entrepreneurship program will help position companies and products in the market place through collaboration, networking and funding."

Those selected to participate in the program could receive up to $25,000 for their company or product and access to a network of mentors, grant-writing consultants and investors.

ACRE's Entrepreneurship Center will serve this audience with two tracks. Track 1 is for entrepreneurs who, with the assistance of mentors or investors, are ready to take their products to the market. ACRE will use a process similar to the popular television show where successful business mentors help open doors and provide advice and financial assistance.

ACRE will add a second track in late 2018 for innovators who have an idea but don't have experience in business. This track will offer participants a curriculum in business planning and marketing.

"Ultimately the ACRE Entrepreneurship Center is about South Carolina's economic prosperity and specifically, growing the economic impact of the state's largest industry – agribusiness," said SC Commissioner of Agriculture Hugh Weathers. "ACRE will link farming, agribusiness, research and entrepreneurship and will help us achieve our 50 by 20 goal."

South Carolina agribusiness has an annual economic impact of $42 billion. SCDA hopes to increase that impact to $50 billion by 2020.

The entrepreneurship program application requires a business plan and a prototype or sales history. Applications are due Monday, April 16 and are available at www.Acre-sc.com.

For more information on the entrepreneurship center and other ACRE initiatives, contact Kyle Player, ACRE Project Coordinator, at 803-734-2324 or kplayer@scda.sc.gov.

Poultry Feeds our Economy and the World

As diets improve around the world, demand for protein will double worldwide by 2025. A new poultry law, passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor McMaster earlier this month, will enable South Carolina's poultry farmers and workers to help feed the world and also help improve our state's rural economy.

You probably know that poultry farming is big business in South Carolina. We rank 13th in the nation for broiler production, 17th in the nation for egg production and 8th in the nation for turkey production. Quail and other poultry industries account for more than 9 million birds raised in our state. All of these numbers add up to jobs – approximately 7,500 jobs in South Carolina, not including positions in related industries like packaging, refrigeration and construction.

While the poultry industry has been good to the South Carolina economy, South Carolina's regulations have not been terribly friendly to poultry expansion. We lag behind every other state in the Southeast because our permitting process for poultry houses takes much longer here than it does, say, in neighboring North Carolina and Georgia. Last fall Tyson announced a large expansion in Tennessee; South Carolina wasn't even considered because of our permitting process.

TV show featuring Hobcaw Barony airs March 22

The national television program "Best of America by Horseback" filmed a segment on historic Hobcaw Barony, owned by The Belle W. Baruch Foundation in Georgetown, last fall. The show will air at 2 p.m. March 22 on RFD-TV.

Executive producer Tom Seay decided to showcase the Lowcountry of South Carolina, focusing on the history and culture of the 16,000-acre plantation. Hobcaw Barony was the home of financier Bernard Baruch, who served as an advisor to presidents from Wilson to Eisenhower, including President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Gathered after the Hobcaw filming were TV co-host Kristen Biscoe, rider Don Mathis, host Tom Seay, rider Susan Mathis, SCDA marketing specialist Marsha Hewitt, and Jane Yarborough, Best of America executive assistant.

The South Carolina Market Bulletin

(ISSN 0744-3986)

The Market Bulletin is published the first and third Thursday of each month by the SC Department of Agriculture, Wade Hampton State Office Building, Columbia, SC 29201. Periodicals postage paid at Columbia, SC 29201.

Postmaster, send address changes to:
SC Market Bulletin, PO Box 11280, Columbia, SC 29211

Policies for Advertising
Only ads pertaining to the production of agricultural products and related items are published.

Only one ad per category is allowed, but readers may submit ads in up to four different categories. “For Sale” ads must include a price. Ads will be published one time only.

The advertiser’s complete name, address, zip code, county, and phone number with area code are required for each ad. However, only the person’s name, county, and phone number are listed. Advertisements can be no longer than 150 characters including name, county, and phone number.

Out-of-state ads are not accepted.

Advertisements from anyone acting in the capacity of an agent cannot be accepted. That includes ads from dealers, merchants or commercial businesses, including real estate ads. We do not accept sealed bids, legal notices or consignment sales.

The Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit and/or verify ads and notices. Ads are received in good faith, and the Bulletin assumes no responsibility for their content.

There is no charge for advertising.

The deadline is noon on Tuesday of the week before publication. Check each category for specific rules.

Ads may be submitted by:

- Mail: SC Market Bulletin Advertising, PO Box 11280, Columbia, SC 29211. Please use 8½ x 11 inch paper.
- Fax: 803-734-0659
- On-line: Go to agriculture.sc.gov. Look for Market Bulletin, select “post an ad,” and follow the instructions. If an email address is included, a reminder will be sent for ad renewal. Do not use all capital letters.

Poultry Feeds

Poultry companies will consider South Carolina only if they know they can get farmers to build new poultry houses in a known time period. Until passage of this new legislation, the law was unclear on a timeframe for both the permitting process and the appeals process for poultry expansion projects. The new law clarifies both processes.

Don't get me wrong – I'm well aware of the emotional arguments that went into the legislative debate and public coverage of this new law. I testified at the committee hearings and watched the debate in the legislature. The truth is, our poultry farmers know that good community relations and responsible growth are necessary for their success.

Poultry is a popular, low-cost protein that helps feed South Carolina and can help feed the world. I'm hopeful that South Carolina will now become more competitive in this growing industry as a result of the new poultry law. We certainly have some catching up to do.

Spring Horse Racing Circuit Features Carolina Cup

South Carolina is home to several Thoroughbred horse races that bring spectators from across the country.

The 78th running of the Aiken Trials will be March 17 in Aiken. These races are typically for horses that are beginning their careers. It is a low-key day of fun for the whole family. Gates open at 10 a.m.; races start at noon.

The following Saturday, March 24, horse fans have two races to choose from: The Aiken Steeplechase and the Elloree Trials.

The Aiken Steeplechase is a set of six races sanctioned by the National Steeplechase Association. Total purses are $90,000. Two flat races and four jump races are featured at the Aiken Horse Park. While many people tailgate, vendors are available with a wide selection of food choices on Vendor Row. For information on either Aiken race, call 803-648-4631.

The 56th running of the Elloree Trials brings both Thoroughbreds and Quarter Horses in an afternoon of races that attract up to 7,500 people to this small Midlands town. The relaxed atmosphere encourages people to bring their lawn chairs and spend a day socializing and watching horses from across the Carolinas. Call 803-897-2616 for details.

The most prestigious race of the season is the famed Carolina Cup on March 31 at Springdale Race Course in Camden. Known as the largest one-day sporting event in the state, this year's race is even more exciting with the addition of the classic Colonial Cup. The two races offer purses of $75,000 and $150,000 respectively, attracting top international steeplechasers from around the world.

Now in its 84th year, the Cup is a spring tradition for families, horse lovers, and college students. The six races have total purse money of $325,000. In addition to the exciting steeplechase races, other festivities include tail-gating, the latest spring fashions, music, and pre-race entertainment at the National Steeplechase Museum.

Tickets are $45 at the gate, with discounts if purchased by March 17. Gates open at 9 a.m. The first race is at 1:30 p.m. Call 803-432-6513 or visit www.carolina-cup.org.

As a preview for the Carolina Cup, the public is invited to "Biscuits and Breezing" on March 17. This free event, beginning at 8 a.m., allows people to see racehorses thundering by the grandstand as they prepare for the Cup races. Horses gallop at intervals throughout the morning. The racecourse is located at 200 Knight's Hill Rd.

Peanuts Offered at Cooper River Bridge Run

The SC Peanut Board will have a booth space at the Cooper River Bridge Run on Thursday and Friday, April 5-6 at the North Charleston Convention Center to promote South Carolina-grown peanuts at the health and fitness expo.

Every runner, jogger, and walker who has entered the race is urged to pick up his or her bib number and packet for the race weekend. Peanut marketing specialist Marianne Copelan will give out peanut packets, samples of milked peanuts, and peanut butter. The booth will also provide educational material, recipe cards, and give-aways to those who visit. March is National Peanut Month.

The SC Peanut Board booth number is 422. The expo opens at noon and closes at 8 p.m. on April 5. On April 6 it is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The show averages between 5,000 and 8,000 people in two days.

Farmer Resource Rodeo to be April 5

The 2018 SC Farmer Resource Rodeo will be held Thursday, April 5 at the State Farmers Market.

Attendees will learn about the resources and programs available to provide technical, financial and educational assistance to South Carolina farmers. More than two dozen agencies and organizations will participate in this roundup of expertise.

Those attending will have an opportunity to chat with representatives and learn about program details and availability. The $20 admission fee includes lunch and program materials, but the fee will be waived for current participants in the SC New and Beginning Farmer Program.

The event will be held at the Phillips Market Center at the State Farmers Market in West Columbia from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Register online at <https://2018ResourceRodeo.eventbrite.com> or contact Charlie Fisher at 803-576-2080 or fisherc@rcgov.us.

Hobcaw Barony

Baruch's daughter Belle was an accomplished horseback rider who competed internationally at the highest levels of show jumping. An American woman with a Jewish last name, Belle defeated Hitler's military officers in Germany in the 1930s. In Italy, she won over the best of Mussolini's cavalry.

Belle Baruch purchased Hobcaw Barony from her father and envisioned a future for the land. Prior to her death in 1964, she created a foundation which owns and operates the property today as a private research reserve and education center. Environments include upland and maritime forests, swamps, rice fields, salt marsh and more than 90 miles of dirt roads, many of them historic and some of them available for trail rides.

"Best of America by Horseback" is the top trail riding show in the country. It airs on RFD-TV, which can be seen on DirecTV, Dish Network, AT&T U-verse and more than 300 cable providers, with a total audience of about 52 million viewers.

For the upcoming episode, a number of local horseback riders were filmed at Hobcaw Barony. SC Commissioner of Agriculture Hugh Weathers and SC Parks, Recreation and Tourism executive director Duane Parrish were interviewed for the show.

"Of the nearly 2,000 airings of our television shows and my travels all over America, I have never felt more at home or more welcomed than at Hobcaw Barony. This is one place everyone should ride to feel the history, enjoy the beauty and relax," said "Best of America by Horseback" host and executive producer Tom Seay.

"I cannot wait to have the opportunity to create a major national television show in South Carolina," he continued. "It is refreshing to meet government officials who are so dedicated to preserving heritage and enhancing our way of life." He added that he plans to visit Hobcaw Barony again.
